

DARTMOUTH'S PRESIDENT.

Prof. Tucker of Andover Chosen for the Position.

CONCORD, N. H., Feb. 7, 1893.

EDITOR CALEDONIAN—At last old Dartmouth seems to be favored. The magnificent gifts she has received the past year have indeed been grand and most opportune, but the crowning blessing did not descend until Friday evening last, when, at a meeting of the trustees in this city, Dr. William Jewett Tucker of Andover Theological Seminary, was elected to and accepted the presidency. It will be remembered by your readers that Dr. Tucker has often been urged to accept this high position, and that he has twice declined the offer; but at last he yielded, and in May next he will enter upon the duties of the office, and the event of his inauguration will be one of the happiest and most brilliant red-letter days in the history of this grand old college.

Dr. Tucker was born at Griswold, Conn., July 13, 1839; graduated at Dartmouth in 1861; afterwards taught school in Lacoma and Columbus, Ohio, until 1863, when he entered Andover Theological Sem-rear of the east wing and is 34 feet square with accommodations for 125 students. Adjoining this are waiting, etherizing and surgeons' rooms. A conservatory 35 feet long and 20 broad connects it with the east wing.

The buildings will be heated by indirect radiation, produced by the hot water system. They will be lighted by both gas and electricity, and the entire cost, including land, is $150,000. The buildings are surrounded by fifteen acres of land.

Hiram A. Hitchcock of New York, one of the proprietors of the Fifth Avenue Hotel, built the hospital in memory of his wife, and Rand & Taylor of Boston, two former residents of St. Johnsbury, are the architects of the building. The Mary Hitchcock Hospital gives Hanover one of the best hospitals in the country. It will be dedicated in the near future.

Death of Mrs. Hannah Swett.

The Brodhead, Wis., Independent contains the notice of the death of Mrs. Hannah Swett which occurred at Brodhead, Jan. 10, 1893. The Independent says: "Mrs. Swett was a quiet, gentle lady of the old school, highly esteemed by all who knew her. She was born in Barnet, Vt., July 4th, 1806. On the death of her mother which occurred when she was but a girl, the home was broken up and she went to live with her grandmother. While still quite young she became a member of the Presbyterian church, and through the manifold changes of a long life she never lost her Christian hope. She was married to Luke Swett in Danville, Vt., January 9th, 1849, and at once entered upon the very trying task of being a mother to another woman's children. How well she succeeded is best shown by the very many kind letters received from them during all her later years. With her husband she came to Brodhead in 1866 and this has since been her home. After Mr. Swett's death which occurred in August, 1875, she gave up her home that she might be free from household care and as liberally to enjoy her remaining years as seemed best to her. Quite fortunately her last days were spent in the household of Mrs. Whitaker, whom the friends will ever hold in kindly remembrance for the thoughtful care and ready sympathy which made it home indeed. Thus ended the labor of more than four score years of life, its duties well done; and this has passed to rest another of the true, tried and faithful."

cases, Mrs. John McGill and Thomas Miles are on the sick list.

Nearly three weeks ago W. P. Wakefield lost a valuable fox hound, which he is very anxious to find. He is willing to pay a reward for the recovery of the hound, and will be grateful also to anybody who will put him on the track of the lost animal.

RYEGATE.

A Very Successful Pink Tea.

The entertainment at the town hall last Friday evening was a great success socially, as well as financially, notwithstanding the hardest storm of the season had prevailed during the entire day. It was a Pink tea. The hall was tastefully and appropriately decorated; dainty pink candles and shades shed their soft light on the young ladies dispensing tea, who were attired in pretty pink costumes. During the evening a varied programme was well carried out, in which were recitations, solo and quartettes singing, "The Pease Sisters" was given in a very charming manner, and was one of the pleasantest features of the evening.

A Dwelling House Turned.

The dwelling house owned by W. J. Smith and occupied by A. Henth, near the saw-mill, was consumed by fire last Saturday evening. Most of the goods were saved.

So far as we can learn the sick are convalescing.

The cold weather has affected the water supply in many places, and made it very inconvenient to water stock.

The Creamery Association have obtained a charter and the difficulty now seems to be location. The most desirable places where good drainage can be had are not for sale, and cannot be bought for any reasonable sum; besides more funds are necessary for building and outfit.

SOUTH RYEGATE.

A Treat in Store for Lecture-Goers.

The lecture given January 27th by Rev. Mr. Hough was well attended and gave excellent satisfaction. The committee have been very fortunate in securing for the next Col. Geo. W. Bain, one of the most eloquent and celebrated lecturers in the country. He comes from Kentucky and has been called the finest orator in the South. It was by great good fortune that he was secured, it being an "off" night between two engagements in the state. His subject will be "Among the Masses, or Traits of Human Character," the time, Saturday evening, February 11th; the place, the Reformed Presbyterian church. There ought to be an audience limited only by the capacity of the church, for the opportunity to hear a man like Col. Bain may not occur again in a lifetime.

Nellie Bone is at home.

In CALEDONIAN for Jan. 29, read $10,708, as total business at our depot instead of $6075.

Deacon John Smith has had his home with Wm. Bone at Boltonville for more than a year. He will be 93 in March, and is quite well, with faculties well preserved.

RESOLUTIONS.

The directors of the Merchants National Bank, at their meeting held January 30th, 1893, approved the following resolutions:

Whereas, God in his providence has removed by death our associate, Isaac M. Smith, for many years a director;

Resolved, That we hereby bear loving testimony to his unflinching courtesy, his excellent judgment, and honest devotion to the best interests of the bank.

Resolved, That we wish to express to the bereaved family our sincere personal sympathy, and the assurance that in his death we feel the loss of a warm personal friend.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the books of the bank, and a copy sent to the family of the deceased.

This is Meant for You.

It has been truly said that half the world does not know how the other half lives. Comparatively few of us have perfect health, owing to the impure condition of our blood. But we rub along from day to day, with scarcely a thought, unless forced to our attention, of the thousands all about us who are suffering from scrofula, salt rheum and other serious blood disorders, and whose agonies can only be imagined. The marked success of Hood's Sarsaparilla for these troubles, as shown in our advertising columns frequently, certainly seems to justify urging the use of this excellent medicine by all who know that their blood is disordered. Every claim in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla is fully backed up by what the medicine has done and is still doing, and when its proprietors urge its merits and its use upon all who suffer from impure blood, in great or small degrees, they certainly mean to include you.

nary and graduated in 1866. In 1867 he accepted the pastorate of the Franklin street Congregational church in Manchester, where, by the brilliancy and literary value of his sermons he attracted wide attention throughout New England. In 1875 he was called to the Madison Square Presbyterian church in New York, where he remained until he went to Andover in 1880, to accept the chair of homiletics. He was one of the founders of the Andover Review, and has always been its leading editor.

In the past few years Dartmouth College has seemed to be in the background, as compared with other leading colleges in New England; but she no longer gropes in darkness, nor rests upon her oars. She now boldly and most ably strides for the front, and hereafter her course will not be one of defence, but rather a progressive and aggressive one all along the line of popular educational enlightenment. Indeed, the future of Dartmouth is most promising from every point of view, and the dark days of discouragement are now turned into bright and sunny days of rejoicing. The news of this most wise action on the part of the trustees in securing so brilliant, wise and able a leader as Dr. Tucker, will be hailed with unbounded joy and enthusiasm by the alumni of old Dartmouth throughout the United States; yea, throughout the world, for they are to be found in almost every quarter of the globe. All hail, old Dartmouth!

THE MARY HITCHCOCK HOSPITAL.

The Mary Hitchcock Hospital, which is now completed, is probably the finest institution of its kind in the country, and its beautiful proportions add much to the attractiveness of Hanover. This work, which was begun about two years ago, has been steadily prosecuted by a large force of men, and the contractors are to be congratulated upon the results of their labor. The presence of the hospital will greatly increase the advantages which Dartmouth affords to medical students, and will doubtless attract a greater number of prospective physicians to our doors than ever before. The architecture is Moorish in design, combined with the "cottage hospital" style. It is of yellow and brown Roman brick with terra cotta trimmings. The main building in the center of the cut is 42 by 60 and three stories in height. On either side, and joined to it by covered corridors or "sun rooms," which are enclosed with glass in winter and are open in summer, are single story wings. Each contains a ward 26 by 36, arranged for 10 beds, four single patients' rooms and bath rooms and other accessories.

two propositions with reference to the state's reward offered for the apprehension of Almy, the murderer of Christie Warden. One of these propositions is by Mrs. Warden, mother of Christie, and deputy sheriff O. A. Randall of Hartford; and the other is a joint resolution in favor of Horace A. Brown and Geo. H. Whiteher. There seems to be a difference of opinion as to who were the apprehenders and captors of Almy, and it will take the state sometime to decide the matter.

Hon. Calvin Page, a senator from Portsmouth, has introduced a sweeping bill for the better protection of the forests of the state. The lumber dealers of the state will antagonize the measure to the bitter end. It is as follows, and no doubt will interest the lumber dealers in St. Johnsbury, who own large lumber interests in this state.

Sec. 1. No person, company or corporation shall cut or saw, except for their sole, exclusive, immediate domestic use, and not for market, sale or manufacture, any pine, spruce, fir, hemlock, chestnut, poplar, basswood, oak, ash, elm, maple, sycamore, beech, black birch, yellow birch, butternut or leverwood tree which is less than 10 inches minimum diameter at a point 16 feet measuring from the top of the stump as cut.

Sec. 2. Any person, company or corporation violating the provisions of section 1, shall be fined not less than $10 nor more than $25 for each offence, one-half of which shall be paid to the prosecutor and one-half to the county.

All other interests of this city will be subservient to the carnival exercises on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The governor and his staff, the entire legislative body and every business man in the city are "in it." It is to be a great red-letter day for the whole state. Everybody seems to catch on to the spirit, and they are all nearly crazy, each one determined to outdo his neighbor, either in turn-outs, athletic sports or decorations. The town will be decked with bunting, flags, transparencies, etc. Snap-shots will be taken, and after all is over a book, profusely illustrated, will be issued as a souvenir.

Three unknown men were found near the railroad track, about one mile south of this city on Saturday evening last, lying upon the snow nearly frozen to death. One of the men was sufficiently aroused to give a slight account of the affair after being brought to a house and warmed. The other two were taken to the city hospital, where they still remain with slight hopes of recovery. It seems that they had just been released from the work house and were on their way to Suncook, where they expected to get work. It was a bitter cold night, and becoming tired and the worse for rum, they had lain down to die. Rum, in this case, as it always will, conquered.

Women put too much confidence in pins.

Fred Morris has moved to St. Johnsbury to become landlord at the Cottage Hotel.

The house occupied by Oscar Baird was burned Saturday. The loss was small as the building was an old one.

The friends of Rev. D. M. McKinlay will give a donation at Barnet Center, Wednesday, Feb. 15, afternoon and evening.

EAST BARNET.

Had a full house at the social at George Nelson's and all enjoyed it very much.

The school at Joe's Brook finishes on Friday with an exhibition in the evening.

Miss Hartig is holding meetings at Barnet and here. She will be here Thursday evening and next Saturday at the chapel. We hope the house will be filled, for the meetings are very interesting.

GLOVER.

Death of Alice (Dwinell) Cutler.

Mrs. Alice (Dwinell) Cutler died at her home in Barton early Monday morning. She was the oldest daughter of J. E. Dwinell of this place, and married Henry R. Cutler, a former resident of this town, and at present in the employ of Cushing, Olmstead & Snow of Boston. Since the birth of her child her life has been in great danger; congestion of the lungs finally set in and ended the life of one who was ever the friend and favorite of all who knew her. She was accomplished and respected in every sense of the word and will be mourned by all who knew her. The people of Glover truly sympathize with the mourning ones in this their great sorrow.

Rev. A. A. Smith has rented rooms of C. A. Barrows.

The band boys had a full house at their entertainment and took about one hundred dollars.

McINDOES FALLS.

James McQuaid is attending the medical college at Burlington.

C. I. Smith has been appointed administrator of his father's estate.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawler and baby are visiting Mrs. Lawler's sister, Mrs. Ramsey, at Colebrook.

Rev. Mr. Gay was called to his home in Georgetown to attend the funeral of his aunt. Mr. Bishop read a sermon on Sunday.

Miss Nettie Clark returned to her home in Pencham last Saturday. She has made many friends here during her stay among us.

W. H. Gilchrist has been elected director of the Woodsville Loan and Banking Association, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of I. M. Smith.

The Y. P. S. C. E. had a missionary concert on Sunday evening, which was enjoyed by a full house; the singing by Miss Helen Houghton deserves special mention.

The district schools closed Friday of last week. The schools did honor to themselves and teachers. The closing exercises were excellent; although the weather was bad there were a good number present.

There will be an exhibition at the close of the academy schools on Thursday evening, Feb. 9, at the Academy Hall. The drama, "Bread on the Waters," will be presented by the scholars. Admission 15c; reserved seats, 20c; doors open at 7 o'clock; begins at 7:30.

PASSUMPSIC.

C. Woods and family and L. Thomas and wife returned home last Saturday for a vacation.

Mrs. Henry Bruce and son have returned from Barnet village, where they have spent the school months.

The donation last week was a very pleasant affair, and we hope was of pecuniary benefit to our pastor.
